BOWMAN HAS A CLOSE CALL

NEWBURYPORT, Aug. 4.—Walter H. Bowman of Boston fell fifty feet from the Plum Island Aviation Grounds, wrecking the Burgess biplane flying there, but escaping with only a few cuts and bruises. It was Bowman's first attempt to operate an airplane, and it was the first trip of the "Flying Fish" since leaving after the crash in which Edward Russell, a well-known aviator, was killed. Bowman, who has been attending as mechanic for some time at the Plum Island shops, had never essayed a flight before. He went out to try out the machine, which had just been returned from the shop. With him to lend their advice were three men, a local expert and two of the members of the Plum Island club.

IRISHMAN ON TOP IN BOY, SAYS MINISTER

The Minister has had his day in the old Boy State. If you do not realize this, look about you the next time you go on the street. A Norwegian conductor takes your fare on the street car, an Italian sells you fruit, an Armenian hawks your rug, a Swede races for your fortune, an Englishman is your dentist, a Scotchman is your banker, and an Irishman fills the highest place of honor in the city in which you live. Why, it takes twenty-five languages to get a letter out of the Boston postoffice. The idea of government, every epoch of civilization, every nation and every tribe on the globe is a part of our New England—Rev. Arthur MacLean, of Boston, at meeting of Irish descendants at Newbury.

BOY KILLED IN ELEVATOR FALL

HAVERHILL, Aug. 4.—George Wilson, 13, was killed and Henry Morrison, seven, injured in an elevator accident at 121½ Street shop. George Wilson, a boy of 13, was riding up on the elevator with a friend when the cable snapped. The elevator fell to the ground, killing Wilson and injuring Morrison. The cause of the accident is being investigated.

BOYS SOUGHT IN KIDNAP THREAT

The police are searching the West End today for a band of boys who are suspected of being the authors of the kidnap threat made recently by James G. Thompson, of No. 86 Phillips square. The letter, which is in the possession of the police and clearly signed, was dropped in the mail box of the Golden Gate Hotel. It is written in a bold hand, apparently the work of a boy, and contains a threat to kidnap the children of the hotel if their parents do not pay a ransom of $10,000 within a week.

FOUR KILLED IN TENEMENT FIRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Louis Basset, his wife, Marie, and their two sons were killed in a fire which destroyed the house in which they lived at No. 272 Spring street, West Hoboken. The wife and her children, of Peter Basset were among the victims. The fire broke out in the early morning and spread rapidly, consuming the tenement house. The bodies of the four victims were recovered and taken to a morgue.

HAMLIN PREDICTS DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

The Democratic party in Massachusetts is full of hope and there is every reason why this should be the case. It is too early to say when the Democrats will nominate for Governor, but the party will put up a hard fight, with every prospect of victory. I feel sure that the Democrats will carry every congressional district in Massachusetts, —Charles S. Hamlin in interview at Washington.

$12,000 FOR LOVE MAKING BY WIRE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4.—It cost the city of employees lessening over the telephone wires. Mayor Magee's office has issued an order to the heads of all departments that they should report any telephone calls that might result in a telephone bill to be paid. "Cranks" of different city departments are instructed to report at once any violation of this order by loss of their own jobs. With control is not absolutely expected, however, the city is instructed to check any wire over which the leaves conversation other than city.

A Beatrice Fairfax Letter Goes Astray

Will Our Readers Please Tell This Man Whether It Is Wise "To Baby a Girl?"

Copyright, 1910, by the American Journal Company.

A reader who writes quite often to this newspaper has just encountered serious trouble. He wants to "swing a girl in line," and if you can possibly help him with advice by all means write at once. Here is his letter:

Dear Sir—Please write off this: Which is the best way to swing a girl in line who used to talk friendly, but is now formal? Use "the bland civility of cheerful indifference," or "baby" her and cater to her? Or meet her in the same way she meets me? Doesn't it hurt people more when we act hurt or cold toward them than if we get angry with them or act cheerfully indifferent and vice versa?

Please write an editorial on handling people who get on their "high horse." Yours truly,
A MAN READER.

We suppose that many men who might write letters somewhat more profound and erudite than the one above are also busy with the thoughts that occupy this "man reader." Antony was bothered by Cleopatra's whims. She persuaded him to run away from the decisive sea-fight—a great mistake. Napoleon was bothered all the time by that first wife of his—because he liked her. And bothered also by that second wife who was such utter trash. Wise old Doctor Johnson fretted about his poor, foolish, painted wife—some of the "greatest," so called, little, foolish human beings have asked themselves, or the silent moon, or the rippling brook, or the angry thunder, what they could do "to swing a girl."

Usually letters of this kind are sent to our fellow editor and learned collaborator, Beatrice Fairfax. She could tell this man in a minute JUST what to do. A girl "who used to talk friendly and is now formal" is no puzzle at all to Beatrice Fairfax. She understands such a girl just as well as a blacksmith understands the foot of a horse. Of course this important letter shall be sent to her, and doubtless she will answer it. But as long as it comes first of all to this column, we print it here, and we ask the millions who have presumably known girls that "used to talk friendly, but are now formal," to give this "lover" the benefit of their advice.

In response to the pitiful plea, "Please write an editorial on handling people who get on their 'high horse,'" we write as follows:

Be glad that this girl ever condescended, even for a minute, to "talk friendly." The clod of earth upon which the sun shines for a moment should feel happy for all time—even when the sun withdraws its rays to shine somewhere else.

You, a "man reader," are the clod of earth, and the girl who "used to talk friendly" is the sun.

Be glad that she is on a "high horse," and hope that the horse will carry her safely.

Remember that ANY WOMAN is too good for ANY MAN.

It is only woman's foolish kindness that makes her tolerate men at all. The time will come when women will be much harder to please than they are now, when they will "act formal" all the time and "friendly" very rarely.

These are the easy days for mere men. Harder times are ahead.

The day will come when women will know their own worth, their own value and importance—and they will not squander themselves in the silly fashion of to-day.

We advise "A Man Reader" to make peace on any terms. Let him stand humbly beside the "high horse," looking upward with tearful eyes. And let him say, "Oh, beautiful being that used to talk friendly but are now formal, I recognize your divine right to do as you please to smile to-day and frown to-morrow. I know that I must have committed some grave crime. I am a worm of the dust. I might 'act cold' if I wanted. I might also be formal, and I suppose I could find a 'high horse' somewhere. But I don't want to do that. I might also get angry or indifferent or 'vice versa,' but I won't do either. I simply beseech you to talk friendly once more, get down off of that 'high horse' and give me a chance again."

That is how we would advise this distressed human being to talk. But our advice is not important. The real advice will be found in the columns of Beatrice Fairfax.

Help Save the Babies

The Boston Floating Hospital Is Doing a Noble Work—Help It Along

Comparatively few people in Boston are aware of the magnificent philanthropic work being done in the summer months by the Boston Floating Hospital. It is a hospital for sick babies—primarily a hospital for the sick babies of the poor.

So unique is the floating institution that doctors, nurses and others interested in charitable work come many miles to make a study of its management.

When the killing heat beats down upon a city and the little ones, burned with fever, lay in badly ventilated rooms without medical necessities, the boon of such treatment may be obtained in this hospital, surrounded by clean, cool sea air, may be imagined.

The lives of scores of children, without a doubt, are saved through the treatment by the skillful nurses under the favoring environment that the Floating Hospital affords.

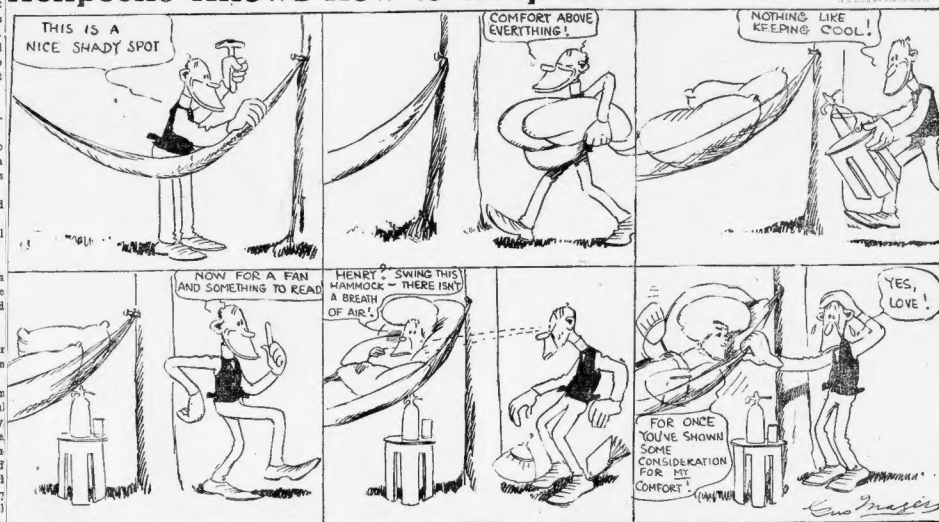

The hospital has but a small endowment fund. This will doubtless grow as the great merit of the institution becomes better known. So far the funds in hand afford an income that defrays but 2 per cent. of the current expenses. The trustees ask the public to contribute to this worthy cause. No one is authorized to go out and collect money for the hospital. All contributions should be sent directly to the Treasurer He is George C. Lee, Jr., No. 44 State street, Boston.

The EVENING AMERICAN guarantees to advertisers the largest circulation by far of any daily newspaper in Boston and over 200,000 more than the next highest evening paper, and over 75,000 more than all the other Boston evening newspapers combined. Circulation books open to all.
